Successful in Communication

Whatever the nature or size of your business, the ability to respond quickly to customers and manage communications securely and effectively is critical to driving sales and revenue.

The Toshiba Strata CIX family consists of feature-rich, robust, reliable and easy-to-use communication platforms that can be configured according to the size and the needs of your business.

MAXIMUM Reliability – Reliable lines of communication are absolutely critical to your business. All the platforms in the Strata CIX family are designed for 99.999% reliability. They have a solid reputation for being the most reliable solutions on the market today.

MAXIMUM Flexibility – whether you want a simple digital telephone system, a more advanced Voice over IP (VoIP) solution or even a combination of the two, Strata CIX will meet all of your needs both for today and for the future. You can even implement a digital solution today and move over to VoIP when you are ready without having to completely replace your existing telephone system.

MAXIMUM Functionality – Investment in a new telephone system means that you want all the functions available to help you increase your productivity and efficiency. As well as enabling you to make, receive and manage calls efficiently, Strata CIX platforms also support a range of practical business focused solutions:

- Messaging Solutions
- Networking Solutions
- Remote & Mobile Working Solutions
- Contact Centre Functionality
- Uniform & Automatic Call Distribution (UCD/ACD)
- Call Routing & Interactive Voice Recognition (IVR)
- Computer Telephony Integration (CTI)
- Call Recording

MAXIMUM Security – Secure channels of communication are critical to all businesses. Strata CIX platforms use existing technology; they are designed to sit within the secure part of your network, ensuring your business communications remain protected.

MAXIMUM Investment Protection – Strata CIX platforms are designed with built in scalability and upgrade paths. They use common parts, ensuring your investment is protected, and allowing easy migration to new technologies when the time is right for your business.

MAXIMUM User Productivity – Strata CIX communication platforms are complemented by a portfolio of elegant and classically styled IP and Digital featurephones and operator positions. All the featurephones available are easy to use, require minimal user training and are robust and reliable to maximize productivity.
